

MAY -4 1925 ✓

©CLM

3019 ✓

HOT TIMES IN ICELAND. ✓

When old Explorer Alfalfa decided to go up to Iceland, to see where the icebergs and ice cream cones come from, he sure let in for a lot of trouble.

In fact almost every legitimate form of misfortune came his way each and every day, that any one could conceive of.

Early in the morning, while "Bawling" out his help on the deck, a rattle brained elephant dropped him through a hole in the upper deck. He landed down stairs and disturbs a goat, who was working cross work puzzles. This goat becomes annoyed and butts him out. He lands at the rear extreme of another elephant, and soon he is traveling around in a circuit. After a few hours he lands up over board, gas a few battles under water with a whale and midget fish.

In the late afternoon, old Al decides to sink the darn boat, and end the whole "Shebang", so he cuts a hole in the bottom, then climbs to the mast to laugh it off.

Everything sinks in due time, even the top of the mast and old Al too.

At 6:30 P.M. we leave them, the whole cargo is swimming after old Al. It looks like a hard night on the ocean, and not a street car in sight.

Aesop Says: "Some people don't have to turn out the lights to be in the dark."

This document is from the Library of Congress
“Motion Picture Copyright Descriptions Collection,
1912-1977”

Collections Summary:

The Motion Picture Copyright Descriptions Collection, Class L and Class M, consists of forms, abstracts, plot summaries, dialogue and continuity scripts, press kits, publicity and other material, submitted for the purpose of enabling descriptive cataloging for motion picture photoplays registered with the United States Copyright Office under Class L and Class M from 1912-1977.

Class L Finding Aid:

<https://hdl.loc.gov/loc.mbrsmi/eadmbrsmi.mi020004>

Class M Finding Aid:

<https://hdl.loc.gov/loc.mbrsmi/eadmbrsmi.mi021002>

National Audio-Visual Conservation Center
The Library of Congress